The House Naval Committee's inquiry into navy affairs virtually is closed, and only a few more witnesses are to be heard in the Senate Commerce Committee's investigation of shipbuilding. Tomorrow the latter committee will hear more testimony about the Hog Island shipyard at Philadelphia. The Senate Manufactures subcommittee, which investigated sugar and coal shortages, plans this week to begin drafting a report on the coal situation.

Next Wednesday the Senate Foreign Relations Committee plans to consider various war aims or peace resolutions in considering a composite draft for emphasizing America's aims.

Appropriation bills are being rapidly disposed of by the House, which passed a agricultural measure last week and plans to pass the diplomatic supply measure and possibly a huge deficiency bill this week. COMPLETE FIRST DRAFT ARMY ON FEBRUARY 15

All States Must Furnish Their Full Strength by That Date.

MEN TO BE SENT OVERSEAS

Time for Second Call for Men Is Dependent Upon the Removal of Troops Now Occupying Training Stations.

WASHINGTON, February 3.—The first draft army will be completed on February 15. The final quotas from those States which have not furnished their full strength will be sent to camp on that date. Orders to this effect have gone out from Washington. It was understood to-night.

Advance supplies of equipment for the new contingents now are being assembled at the camps and cantonments in various sections of the country. Secretary of War Baker has insisted on the accumulation of ample stocks of clothing and other necessary supplies before the additional men reach camp. The work is being pushed. Advice that clothing and supplies would be ready in time were received before the provost-marshal-general decided on the order of the induction of the final quotas into military service.

An aggregate of about 75,000 men will be sent to camp under the new orders.

The date of the second draft call is dependent upon the removal of troops now in training. It was learned to-night. There is no plan under consideration which calls for the construction of new cantonments or extensive enlargements of the existing camps.

The second draft apparently will not apply to all States simultaneously. Transfer of the men of the first national army is regulated by the availability of ships. As transports become available, contingents which have completed their home training will be sent abroad. Registrants to be called under the second draft will be ordered into military service as camp space becomes available.

This would provide a process of continuous training. Fresh troops would be ready for service in Europe at all times under this plan. Secretary Baker is understood to be favorable to this scheme.
